

Jessie Wu

Dear Hiring Team:

I am a Front End Developer who loves what she does: design, working on a team and working well together, the process from pseudocode to product, dog gifs, and writing clean code.

I went into programming because I wanted to build and contribute to apps that make users' lives easier and more enjoyable. I believe this intrinsic interest, eye for design, and the technical skills I gained from Dev Bootcamp, a full stack web development program, make me a compatible and valuable candidate:

Technical Skills - for the final group project we presented at Dev Bootcamp, we used Ruby on Rails and postgresSQL in the back end and Javascript for the front end. My contributions included designing all the wireframes, coding the markup for each page in HTML5 and CSS3 with responsiveness, and optimizing user experience with user stories and Javascript (jQuery and Ajax).

Passion for Aesthetics - With each job, I tapped into my creative side - from pen to Photoshop to code: designing the landing page as the junior designer at a health care training school, being responsible for designs in group projects during Dev Bootcamp. To show my versatility, check out my website that lets the viewer choose between two themes.

Ability to Adjust - Imagine having to communicate effectively in Brazil or with developmentally disabled people. Because of my experience with working in diverse and unfamiliar environments, I am able to adjust and work, technically and culturally, with people from different backgrounds and departments in a fast-paced setting.

I plan to apply the skills I've gained in the past and expand on the ones I will acquire through the Front End Developer position. I am available for opportunities currently and you can reach me by email at jwu004@gmail.com and phone at 858.436.6458. Thank you in advance for your time and I look forward to hearing from you!

Sincerely,
Jessie Wu